

Third Annual
Cardinal Ambrozic Lecture
at the University of St. Michael's College, Toronto

Friday March 2, 2007, 4pm – 6pm

The Marginally Competent and Mentally Ill: A Social Tragedy

Dr. Barry Brown, Professor Emeritus, University of Toronto, will address the problem of how society fails those who are incompetent to care for themselves and may be slowly sliding down a slope toward a state in which they are vulnerable to serious bodily harm. Such individuals are often homeless, finding it difficult to remain in safe living conditions, and in winter, at risk of freezing to death.

Dr. Brown will explore the question of autonomy and society's obligation to protect those most in need.
