State of Palliative Care in Canada: End of Life Care

By the year 2026, 8 million Canadians will be over the age of 65. This is approximately 20 per cent of the Canadian population. It is estimated that there will be a 40 per cent increase in deaths by the year 2020. This will amplify the demand for increased capacity and improved access to quality end-of-life care in every province and territory.

The Honourable Sharon Carstairs, P.C.

Senator Sharon Carstairs is the author of "Still Not There", a report on the State of Quality End of Life Care in Canada. In this report Senator Carstairs makes ten new recommendations to the federal government in five areas: National strategy, patient and caregiver support, training and education for formal and informal health care providers, government and citizens working together, and planning for the future.
